S.A. OFFICER WELL KNOWN IN ULSTER

Brigadier Herbert Westcott, of the Salvation Army, who has been promoted to Lieut.-Colonel at his post as secretary for Special Efforts, is well-known to hundreds of Salvationists in Northern Ireland, where he served for some years as Divisional Young People's secretary. In 1946 he became Divisional Commander for Ireland.

"S.A. officer well known in Ulster," Larne Times, 09 Jun 1949, p. 10, col. 2; digital images, British Library, British Newspapers 1800-1900 (http://newspapers.bl.uk : accessed 01 Sep 2025).